Three councils

- the XIII (diplomacy and war): composed of twelve members plus the ammistre as president.
- the XV (justice and finances)
- and the XXI (the Great Council)

Modification:

- the Council of the XIII ("Rat der Dreizehnte")
- the Room of the XV ("die Fünfzehnte")
- the XXI (Grosser Rat). This Council comprised more than XXI members. Some being either occasional, or temporary)

An executive

The three councils are combined with an executive made up of middle-class Ammistre and four Stettmestres noble, elected for one year.

The base

The base of the system remains the 20 Corporations electing the 300 aldermen from where the Councils resulted.

Stabilization

Definitively established in all its wheels in 1482, the Urban Constitution was going to remain without change until 1789 and will solemnly be read, at the beginning of each year, with the whole of the middle-class men at the time of the ceremony of service of oath of Schwörtag.

Oligarchy

In Strasbourg, the capacity was held by the great patricians families. They all were dependent.
